About the project

The project addresses the needs of both youth and refugees in order to gain skills and competences like leadership, team-work, critical thinking, along with intercultural competences and problem solving, that will help them fully be included in the European society. The course will focus on methods to prevent radicalization and exclusion.

Participants will have the opportunity to improve their knowledge and skills of the topics discussed, to exchange ideas, good practices in the field of youth / refugees / asylum seekers / migrants and to share their experiences so far.

Project Objectives:

The main objective of the project is to help youth workers gain competences in order to support and empower refugees/asylum seekers/immigrants and youth to ensure inclusion and fostering tolerance between people, building a society based on peace and understanding.

This mobility of youth workers is based on non-formal education and learning methods that will help participants experiment, analyse and examine different approaches they can use in their daily youth work activities.

Location: online, on Zoom

Methodology: The sessions are designed to have both theoretical and learning-by-doing activities, with the aid of non-formal education and experiential learning.

Work to prepare in advance: participants are asked to prepare in advance a mini-research about youth radicalisation and refugees / migrants / asylum seekers situation in their home country / country of residence, which will be presented during a workshop in one of the first days of the project.

Certificate: At the end, participants will receive a YouthPass certificate that will confirm their participation and the key competences they developed throughout the online mobility.
